Kitchen Cabinet Doors Perfect for Painting

Have you ever wished there was a way to break away from the current doors on offer and create something different for your customer – something he or she can't get elsewhere? Then The Cupboard Door Company is a name you'll want to note.

The Cupboard Door Company makes MDF doors to order and its speciality is one-piece construction. Handcrafted raised and fluted panel doors and drawer fronts, Shaker framed doors, inset frame systems – they're all made from one piece of MDF and supplied primed, in the raw or top-coated in more or less any colour you choose. Through substantial investment in CNC technology and some pretty clever adaptation of manufacturing techniques, even traditional five-piece doors and in-frame doors (complete with frame) are made from one solid piece in any size.

If your customer's kitchen is in a painted style, you can be sure every door will be perfectly square for a perfect fit every time and there will be no movement or cracking of the finished door. Says director, Craig Warren: "Our ingenious bespoke manufacturing processes allow us to be totally responsive to your requirements. Everything is made to order in quality high impact, moisture-resistant MDF, and can be delivered raw, primed or painted according to your specification. No joints, one piece, no cracking... this is what sets our product apart from others."
